THE first important long story by Charles Battelle Loomis will be published in the Fall by A. S. Barnes & Co. It is entitled and among other cheerful themes sketches the vicissitudes of a colored cook in the country and her nature studies.

Mr. Loomis has long boasted of his repressed or latent talent as an artist. When this, his most important book, was finished, he asked permission to illustrate it, and submitted the accompanying drawing. As a result Mr. F. R. Gruger has been engaged to do the illustrating.

THE GREAT MOGUL

By LOUIS TRACY

Author of "The Wings of the Morning"

¶It's dramatic; it has a vivid personal style. To speak of it as one would of a rich country, one might say—its natural resources are enormous. Story readers, young or old, like a world of action; enough excitement for spice and enough love making to balance and blend the whole. It is like "The Wings of the Morning" in only one respect—it's a brilliant romance of love and adventure, but in many ways it is as different from "The Wings of the Morning" as automobiling is from trout fishing. Read it yourself, and you will see why I go so far afield to draw comparisons.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE REILLY & BRITTON COMPANY, Chicago, will publish next Monday, July 10, "The Fate of a Crown," the novel by Schuyler Stanton, described in these columns a few weeks ago.

DODGE PUBLISHING Co. will publish July 10 "What to Have for Dinner," by Fannie Merritt Farmer, a most thorough and exhaustive work on this subject so puzzling to housekeepers. A fine index enables one to find all the recipes which are grouped under separate menus and illustrated in black and white and colors.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have added some attractive new books to their excellent series of full-colored toy books, at exceptionally low prices. The pictures are reproduced in colors from paintings, etc., by the very best artists and the stories are entertainingly written for children. Lists and samples are now ready.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just brought out "At the Sign of the Fox," by the author of "The Garden of a Commuter's Wife;" Dealey and Ward's "Textbook of Sociology;" "The Educative Process," by W. C. Bagley, of the Montana State Normal College; and "Special Method in Language," by Dr. Charles A. McMurry. Next week they will issue Maurice Hewlett's novel, "The Fool Errant;" and for the week following they promise Robert Herrick's new novel, "Memoirs of an American Citizen."

HARPER & BROTHERS have brought out a novel entitled "Love's Cross Currents," by Algernon Charles Swinburne, the only novel thus far written by the greatest of living English poets. It will come as a surprise to admirers of Swinburne's poetry to find the pages of his novel filled with delicious humor and the keenest of epigrams. The tragi-comedy growing out of the love affairs of four interesting young people, while they play at cross-purposes, is said to be an absorbing, delightful story. The story abounds with satire on certain phases of modern society.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish on August 15 Eugene P. Lyle's book, "The Missourian," for which Ernest Haskell has made a number of striking illustrations. Mr. Lyle's novel exploits for the first time in fiction the romance and the tragedy of the Maximilian régime in Mexico. Coupled with it is the fresh and impressive story of Shelby's unconquerable confederates, who refused to surrender, and who crossed over to Mexico to offer their services there. At about the same time they will bring out "Claims and Counter-claims," by Mrs. Maud Wilder Goodwin, author of "The Four Roads to Paradise," etc. Though the story has been under way for two years it happens to be of peculiar timeliness in that it touches upon tainted money—not as a theme, but as an essential incident to the character development of the hero, a young physician. He alone, of a library board in a small Ohio town, stands out against the acceptance of a building fund from the political leader of the county; a man whose influence he knows to be bad. His stubbornness, as the people regard it, drives him through ostracism to New York. The career which he there achieves through original exploitation, and through a romance of much the same delicacy and depth as that of "The Four Roads to Paradise," forms a story of action and growth of character which leads to an exciting climax aboard an ocean liner.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

- Donaldson, Ja. The Westminster confession of faith and the Thirty-nine articles of the Church of England. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. 9+168 p. D. cl., $1.20.
The first chapters contain a discussion of the Westminster Confession of Faith of the Established Church of Scotland, or the United Presbyterian Church, and of the Creeds and Thirty-nine Articles of the Established Church of England, with the moral and religious aspects of compulsory subscription thereto. All this is introductory to an account of the recent litigation arising from the wish of the Free Church of Scotland to unite with the United Presbyterian Church, merging their funds, and activities. The author outlines the arguments advanced in the succeeding appeals of the case and practically summarizes the points of religious controversy between the Scottish churches and their attitude towards disestablishment. As Dr. Donaldson is principal of the University of St. Andrews his work may be considered authoritative.

Sheehan, Patrick Augustine, (Canon.) Glenanar: a story of Irish life. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. c. '04, '05. 6+321 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Irish peasant life in the thirties and succeeding years when Fenian uprisings were convulsing the country, is here depicted. The plot hinges on the trial of one Edmund Connors, who was arrested with others on the evidence given by "informers." The undying hatred shown by the peasants for these "informers" even to the third generation is the motif of a tale through which runs a slight thread of romance. The Irish patriot Daniel O'Connell appears as advocate in the trial scene. The book is pronouncedly Catholic in tone.

Edward Moran died in New York in 1901. In the following year litigation was begun by the executor of his estate regarding the maritime paintings here described, which the artist had presented to his wife. The suit was carried to several courts and finally decided in favor of Mrs. Moran in 1904. The writer of this book was chief attorney in the case and became so interested in the pictures that he wrote these brief descriptions and the biographical note to accompany the reproductions here given.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 8, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

PRICING OLD BOOKS.*

PRICING books before they are shelved is a matter that, of course, is left principally to the employer or his chief assistant, and need not therefore concern the novice. It is, indeed, a task of extraordinary difficulty, requiring judgment and ripe experience, and will be referred to in another chapter. Every book in stock, however, bears its selling price on a certain leaf or on one of the covers; often the minimum price at which the book may be sold is added to the maximum "asking" price, as well as the date of purchase, the price paid for it and a shelf number. In most cases in this country the selling price is marked in plain figures, and only the purchase price is given in cipher. In exceptional cases—in Europe almost in every case—all the bookseller's private memoranda are noted in cipher. Ciphers are usually made up of one word or of a sentence of nine letters easily remembered, the figure 0 being usually given in its regular form as o. Let us take, for example, the words "daring boy."

123456789 In this case the selling price of the book, if to be sold at $1.25, would be marked "D,a,n," the figure standing for the dollar generally being given in a capital letter followed by a period. A primitive form of cipher is made up of the first nine or ten letters of the alphabet, or of the same number of letters of the alphabet, following any given letter after a, as e f g h i j k l m n . In giving the sales 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 the price and the minimum price at which the bookseller would be willing to let the book go, the price of a $2.50 book that under circumstances might be sacrificed at $2 would books add to the sales price the price they paid for the book, and some dealers extend this information to include the date when the book was purchased, the price of the book when first published, as well as its catalogue number. In such a case let us imagine that the bottom of the inside of the front cover is reserved for the catalogue number, the date when bought, and the purchase price, and the top of the inside of the back cover contains the selling price and the original published price. The status of the book would then appear as follows:

* Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling." A list of authorities quoted will be given on conclusion.

FRONT COVER.	BACK COVER.
85-152.99 \$1	$\frac{F. i. n.}{F. n. n.}$ (5.)

This would indicate that the shelf number of the book is 85. It was bought on the 15th of February, 1899, at $1. Originally published at $5.00. To be sold at $2.50 or possibly at $2.00.

The custom of marking books, of course, varies according to individual notions, but every careful dealer will mark at least two of the items noted above—the buying and the selling prices. By so much as he adds further information, either to the book itself, or to his card catalogue, will he be better able to keep in closer touch with the progress and standing of his business, and to determine in what measure his prices, for example, are adequate or inadequate, and therefore to give his patrons satisfaction while he is also protecting himself.

A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF HAWTHORNE.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just brought out "A Bibliography of Nathaniel Hawthorne," compiled by Nina E. Browne, secretary of the American Library Association Publishing Board. The work, so far as we have been able to test it, is as complete as it is very likely possible to make a bibliography. At any rate, one has the feeling that whatever may have escaped the compiler of this work and that of her friend Mr. P. K. Foley, the well-known Boston dealer in old and rare books, and an acknowledged authority on what concerns the writings of our early American authors, who read the proof of the work, is of little account anyway. Therefore, to all intents and purposes, and notwithstanding the fact that no work of this kind can be final, the present compilation will be the definitive one, perhaps, for all time. Miss Brown has been engaged upon the work of compiling this bibliography for some sixteen years, having begun it in 1888 to fulfill a requirement for graduation at the Library School of Columbia College; but it was not presented for a degree until 1891, when the school had been transferred to the University of the State of New York. Thereafter the subject, which had originally been selected because there existed no published bibliography of Hawthorne's work, became so fascinating in itself that work upon it continued to occupy as much of the compiler's time as could be spared to it.

The volume, besides preface and a list of explanations, starts off with a chronological list of Hawthorne's works from 1828 to 1883. Then are given the four pseudonyms used by Hawthorne—"Oberon," "Ashley Allen Royce," or, "Rev. A. A. Royce," "Aubépine," and "Joseph Nicholson." Next is given a list of the bibliographies of Hawthorne, and then follows the bibliography itself. It contains, along with the entry of Hawthorne's published work, whether in book form or in old magazines or newspapers, everything that could be discovered in print about Hawthorne, in both books and periodicals. Much pains were given to the arrangement to make it as helpful as possible, both to the literary worker and to the collector. There has even been included a very full double-entry author and magazine index, the references in Poole's Index, as well as references to periodical literature not cited in Poole's, being given, which will be of special service to librarians and students. The volume is printed with great care on a fine all-rag paper, (especially made for the book,) with leaves entirely uncut, and bound in a smooth, dark English cloth, with paper label. The printing is on one side of the leaves only, the other remaining blank for any additional notes or comments the owner may care to insert. It is a large octavo, uniform in size with the large-paper edition of Hawthorne's Works, published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. in 1900. An etched portrait of Hawthorne forms the frontispiece. The edition consists of 550 numbered copies, of which 500 are for sale. The plates have been destroyed and no other edition will be issued (ix + 215 p. por. 8°. cl. $5.00 net.)

COPYRIGHT TREATY WITH NORWAY.

THE President, on July 3, announced by proclamation the fulfillment, with respect to citizens of Norway, of the provisions of the laws of the United States giving to foreigners the benefit of copyright in this country.

POSTAL MATTERS.

RULING REGARDING PRIZE CONTESTS.

OFFICE OF THE POST MASTER.

New York, June 30, 1905.

To Publishers:

The following information regarding prize schemes and contests is communicated in accordance with advice from the Assistant Attorney-General for the Post Office Department, and in modification of the circular letter of this office, dated June 3, 1905.

All enterprises offering prizes, for the privilege of participating in which a consideration is required, are not regarded as lotteries or "similar enterprises offering prizes dependent upon lot or chance." It is merely held that those in which the award of the prizes is put within the discretion of the offerer, or of a committee of persons designated by him, the scheme is a lottery, unless it is thrown open to the public without payment or consideration of any kind. Schemes, for instance, in which prizes are offered for the best name for a magazine or corporation, the best story, the best suggestion, the best essay or letter, etc., are regarded as lotteries, unless it is provided that all persons may compete for the prizes offered, freely and without consideration or payment of any kind. Of such enterprises the view is taken that the main purpose is evidently not to obtain by an open competition names, suggestions, essays, etc., excelling in merit, but to distribute prizes for the purpose of "bolstering or stimulating some other line of business," and that as the award will depend upon the whim or taste of the committee or person to whom is assigned the duty of passing upon all names, suggestions or essays received, it is impossible to foretell or foreknow which will be determined to be the best.

Where the award of the prizes does not rest wholly within the discretion or judgment of the offerer or of a committee selected by him, but depends upon facts and circumstances which may definitely be ascertained, the rule that a consideration may not be required does not apply.

Publishers who contemplate the operation of prize contests, or to whom are offered advertisements of such schemes, are advised to ascertain whether they are permissible in the mail, and should submit to this office the advertisements or matter relating to such enterprises before printing the same in their publications

W. R. WILLCOX,
Postmaster.

ILLEGAL INCLOSURES IN PERIODICALS.

OFFICE OF THIRD ASST P. M. GENERAL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26, 1905.

To all Postmasters:

PERIODICALS mailed at the second-class rates are being made the vehicle to cover for the transmission of samples of paper (merchandise) to the detriment of the postal revenue from matter of the fourth class.

This is accomplished by printing advertisements upon sheets of the paper to which the advertisements relate and attaching them as advertising pages to the periodicals. The effect of this is that actual, tangible exhibits of stock, such as waxed papers, oiled papers, glazed papers, tissue papers, writing papers, cover papers, wall papers, wrapping papers, etc., are passing in the mails at the rates provided by law for matter of the second class only.

This is an abuse of the second-class mailing privilege and will not be permitted. On and after September 1, next, all publications containing such exhibits of paper will be charged with the fourth-class rate, regardless of the fact that such specimens or exhibits purport to be, and are inserted as "advertisements." The authority for sufferance until the date named is conferred by section 484, P. L. & R.

When, after September 1, it can be determined from the advertisement, or the advertisement and the paper taken together, that it is printed upon the stock advertised to the end that the texture, finish, tensile strength, etc., thereof may be examined, it will be held to be merchandise and subject to the fourth-class rate, regardless of any device or evasiveness in the language of the advertisement thereon. Care must be taken not to misapply this rule in cases where papers of different color or grade are used for the sole purpose of improving the appearance of advertisements.

EDWIN C. MADDEN,

Third Assistant Postmaster-General.

—Bull. 7719.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HENRY WHITNEY McVICKAR, the illustrator, died July 4, at Southampton, L. I., aged forty-four. Mr. McVickar about twenty years ago contributed pictures for Life. Among the books he illustrated are "Daisy Miller," and Bangs's "Mr. Bonaparte of Corsica." He was one of the founders of Vogue. Later he was at the head of the McVickar-Gaillard Realty and Trust Co.

THE REV. DR. GEORGE EDWARD DAY, professor emeritus of Hebrew at Yale, died in New Haven, Conn., July 2. Dr. Day was born at Pittsfield, Mass., March 19, 1815, and was the second oldest graduate of Yale. He was possibly best known in America and Europe because of the prominent position he occupied in the committee of theologians who revised the Old and New Testaments. He was one of the contributors to Smith's Bible Dictionary and to a number of other standard works on sacred subjects.

PROFESSOR MARCIUS WILLSON, author of a number of school books, died at Vineland, N. J., July 2, aged ninety-two. Professor Willson was born at West Stockbridge, Mass., December 8, 1813, and was graduated from Union College in 1836. For a while he taught school, reading law between times. In 1841 he was admitted to the bar, and practiced until attacked by bronchitis, as the result of much public speaking. From 1849 to 1853 he was President of the Canandaigua Academy. In 1861, upon its founding, the Presidency of Vassar College was offered him, but as he was engaged in literary work he declined. He wrote nearly fifty text books on drawing, political economy, history, etc. His series of readers were in almost universal use forty years. It is said that in the last half century he had received royalties amounting to $250,000. Among his other books are "Mosaics of Bible History," "Wonderful Story of Old," and "Principles of Finance and Philosophy of Bimetallism."

PROFESSOR JEAN JACQUES ÉLISÉE RECLUS, the celebrated geographer, died at Brussels July 4. Professor Reclus was born March 13, 1830, at Sainte-Foy-la-Grande, (Gironde,) and after studying at various universities was for some years under K. Ritter, of the University of Berlin. He fought against the Napoleonic coup d'état in 1851, and, as a refugee, lived in England, Ireland, the United States and South American countries for some years. He fought with the Commune in 1871, and was sentenced to transportation for life, but the sentence, on the petition of scholars throughout the world, was commuted in 1872. Among his works were: "Voyage à la Sierra-Nevada de Sainte-Marthe," "Les Villes d'hiver de la Méditerranée et les Alpes Maritimes," "La Terre Géographie Universelle," "Histoire d'un Ruisseau," "Histoire d'une Montagne," "Evolution, Revolution, l'Idéal Anarchique," and a "Dictionnaire des Communes de la France." Since 1894 he had been professor of comparative geography at the new University of Brussels.

IN the death of the author of the "Pike County Ballads," "Castilian Days," the life of Abraham Lincoln, etc., the world of letters as well as the world at large loses one of its brightest ornaments. Though obliged years ago to forego literature, which to him was always an avocation, the quality of John Hay's literary character, nevertheless, had so impressed itself upon men of art and letters that he was classed only a short time ago by an association of literary men as among the four leading American writers. Mr. Hay always had at heart the progress of literature and art, and staunchly supported every movement for their protection. He will be sorely missed in the coming campaign for the codification of the copyright laws and in the unravelling of its contradictions. John Hay was born in Salem, Ind., October 8, 1838, and graduated from Brown University in 1858. With Nicolay, his collaborator in writing the great history of the administration of the martyred President, he was one of the secretaries of Abraham Lincoln from 1861 to 1865. He also acted as his adjutant and aide-de-camp, and served for some time under Generals Hunter and Gillmore, with the rank of major, being subsequently brevetted colonel. He was first secretary of legation at Paris, chargé d'affaires at Vienna in 1867-'68, and then secretary of legation at Madrid. From 1870 to 1875 he was on the editorial staff of the New York Tribune, and from 1879 to 1881 was first assistant secretary of state under President Hayes. As Secretary of State both under McKinley and Roosevelt, Mr. Hay showed himself a man of fine temper, eminently capable of taking a part in moulding and making history.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have recently changed their policy in the matter of the return privilege of unsold copies of Scribner's Magazine, and the magazine will hereafter be returnable.

EUGENE P. LYLE, whose novel, "The Mis-sourian," has just been published by Doubleday, Page & Co., will inaugurate a series of notable articles on "The Mastery of the Caribbean" in the September World's Work. Mr. Lyle, a well-known writer for magazines, has spent two months travelling in that region, and will remain there several months longer.

THE August Garden Magazine will be devoted to Evergreens, which can be planted better during August than any other time of the year. It is the first time any American gardening publication has made so complete a presentation of the subject. Lists of the best kinds to plant in all parts of the country compiled from reports of the most competent experts will tell people where to avoid errors which are commonly made.

THE Burlington Magazine, published by Robert Grier Cooke, 307 Fifth Avenue, New York, opens with an editorial on the extinction of the middle-class collector. Among the contributed articles are "Tempera Painting," by Roger E. Fry; personal reminiscences of Constantin Meunier, and his aim and place in the art of the 19th century, by Professor R. Petrucci and Charles Ricketts, with three plates; "Early French Paté Tendre in the Fitzhenry Collection," by C. H. Wylde, with three plates; "The Rothschild ms., in the British Museum, of Les Cas des Malheureux Nobles Hommes et Femmes," by Sir Edward Maunde Thompson, with three plates; an account of Shearer, one of the minor English furniture makers of the 18th century, by R. S. Clouston, with three plates; and the conclusion of the sketch of Andrea dal Castagno, by Herbert P. Horne, with one plate. There are notes on Art in America and the usual departments and reviews.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LIFE PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, is about to publish a new book by James M. Flagg, the author of "Tomfoolery," a clever collection of verse brought out last year. The new book is to be entitled "If: a guide to bad manners."

APROPOS of the recent publication of Mr. Andrew Carnegie's book, "The Life of James Watt," it is interesting to state that his first successful book, "The Empire of Business," has been published in the following countries: Spain, Germany, France, Holland, Russia, Italy, Norway and Denmark.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY are publishing the third edition of "The Indifference of Juliet," by Grace S. Richmond, and second editions of "John Henry Smith," by Frederick Upham Adams, "The Mortgage on the Brain," by Vincent Harper, and "Stories of Inventors," by Russell Doubleday.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, will publish at once F. Dickberry's "The Storm of London," which, in spite of a farcical plot, is really a criticism of English society manners and national policy, and blends the most modern ideas with solemn moralizing of the eighteenth century variety put into the mouths of servants.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just published "The Supremacy of the Bible, and Its Relations to Speculative Science, Ancient History and the Higher Criticism," by J. Mercier McMullen; also, "The Temporary and Permanent in New Testament Revelation," by the Rev. Dr. H. P. Nichols, the Bohlen Lecture for 1905.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation "A Text-book of Sociology," by J. Q. Dealey, who has been assisted by Dr. Lester F. Ward. The object has been to select, to condense and to restate the principles and applications set forth in Dr. Ward's previous works, with special attention to the form of the material, so as to make the book available for the use of reading clubs and classes.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation a work on Kate Greenaway, by Marion H. Spielmann, the English art critic. The work will contain autobiographical chapters of Miss Greenaway's childhood, and a record of her career with an account of her friendships with the interesting people of her time. Some fifty intimate letters from Ruskin are given with Miss Greenaway's replies which, in addition to their brightness are especially attractive for the little pen-and-ink sketches which she used to scatter up and down her letters. The book will be profusely illustrated in color from material hitherto unpublished, except in the case of a few of her masterpieces. They have also under way a new volume of "Ranch Verses," by Larry Chittenden, whose earlier volume has gone into its twelfth edition.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY announce for early publication a new story by Ruth Louise Sheldon, entitled "Dolly, Daughter of New England." Starting out with the merry escapade of Dolly and her room-mate at a fashionable boarding-school, which finally is the cause of her being expelled, the story takes us to her aunt's in the country where her cousin, Robert, appears as suitor; across the Atlantic with her girl friend to another aunt in London, where Dolly meets Lord Hamilton, whom she later marries; their trip to the Continent, and life at St. Petersburg and Monte Carlo. Through it all Dolly is the typical New England girl, no amount of contact with fashionable society being able to efface the plain truths stamped upon her character in the old home. The book is charmingly illustrated.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS will publish on August 15 a book entitled "Russia and Its Crisis," by Paul Milyoukov, formerly professor of History at the Universities of Moscow and Sofia. The book aims to explain the internal crisis in Russia; it offers a timely exposition of deep-seated ulcers of the Russian political system, and it makes clear that an interpretation of existing conditions, to be at all adequate, must necessarily be based upon a general and comprehensive survey of the historical circumstances under which the Russian civilization has been developed. The author is a typical representative of the liberal party known as the "intellectuals," and his activity in the cause of freedom has already earned him calumny, imprisonment, and exile. They will publish in September a work on "General Sociology: an exposition of the main developments in sociological theory from Spencer to Ratzenhofer, by Professor Albion W. Small.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready a volume entitled "The Church of Christ," by a writer who wishes his work considered without reference to his identity. The author presents Christianity as an original religion in contrast with all preceding religions; reviews all cases of pardon in the New Testament; maintains that the Church of Christ should be one or identical in organization, teaching and practise with the New Testament church, before creed or sect or party began, and claims that such unity, according to Christ's own words, is essential to its complete and final triumph in the world. They have also just brought out "Parisians Out of Doors," by F. Berkeley Smith, who has already done such charming work in "The Real Latin Quarter;" and in "How Paris Amuses Herself." This volume, illustrated by the author and others, also describes Normandy, Trouville, Monte Carlo and other places familiar to American travellers. The descriptions are bright and humorous and the whole book is written in happiest vein.

THE birthday, July 6, and the day of death, July 18, of John Paul Jones, together with the present-day interest in the transfer of his remains, form three good reasons for the anniversary exhibition that has been opened by the Print Department of the New York Public Library in the lower hall of the Lenox Library Building. There are portraits, old and new, pictures of the famous naval commander's exploits (among them various engravings of the engagement between the Bonhomme Richard and the Serapis), autograph letters by Jones, a facsimile of his commission as a captain, and a little library of books, including some rare and interesting material. Several editions of a certain biography are coupled in each case with a sketch of some unfortunate, kidnapped and sold as a slave. The pirate costume in some of the portraits of Jones recalls the reputation that still seems to cling to him in England, for in the Catalogue of Printed Books in the British Museum we are referred from Jones (John Paul) to Paul, afterwards Paul Jones (John) the pirate. On turning to Paul, we find the pirate toned down to Admiral in the Russian Navy. The portraits include engravings by English, German and French artists contemporary with Jones, (Moreau le jeune among the list,) as well as modern prints by American engravers, and illustrate the various types of his portraits that have become familiar. The exhibit has been arranged by Frank Weitenkampf, curator of the Print Department.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers; to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

What to Have for Dinner

By FANNIE MERRITT FARMER

¶ This book will be in great demand. It is a most thorough and exhaustive work on the subject named. Fully illustrated with many plates in color and black and white.

¶ Miss Farmer has arranged her work by menus, a most convenient way for the busy housekeeper. A complete index covering several pages greatly adds to the value of the book.

¶ This book will receive a large share of attention in our Fall advertising.

The Fate of a Crown

by
Schuyler Staunton

A MOST
ENGROSSING NOVEL
OF LOVE and ADVENTURE

It is a story full of action from start to finish, written with the ease and grace of one who has something to write and knows how to write it. No words are wasted in long, tiresome descriptions, and yet nothing is lacking to make clear every scene and situation. There is not a prosaic passage in the whole book.

A NOVEL

by

Algernon
Charles Swinburne

Love's Cross- Currents

ALGERNON CHARLES SWINBURNE

THE publication of a novel by the greatest of living English poets—the only novel he has ever written—is an event of unusual importance. Lovers of Swinburne's poems will find in his prose the same sweep of fancy, passionate warmth, and grace of narration that his poetry possesses in so marked a degree.

¶ It will come as a surprise, however, to find the pages filled with delicious humor and the keenest of epigrams. The tragi-comedy growing out of the love affairs of four interesting young people, while they play at cross-purposes, is an absorbing, delightful story.

The Leicester Library of World Classics, in handy size, beautifully bound in leather and well printed on especially made paper : : : :

NOTE: The publishers feel confident that they have made no mistake in presenting to the trade this exceptionally fine edition of a carefully selected list of books which should be in everyone's possession.

Many of them have never been issued in a convenient form at anything like the present popular price. Some have appeared only as large, expensive volumes, others in two volumes. In this edition practically every book has over 500 pages, several over 700.
